Institute Director – Delaware Teaching Fellows

Innovative Schools and The New Teacher Project (TNTF) are seeking a temporary Institute Director (ID) to lead new teacher training for the Delaware Teaching Fellows program, a new initiative designed to help ensure the success of Delaware's students. The Delaware Teaching Fellows program was established in 2011 to recruit, select, and train talented career-changers and recent college graduates, who do not have a traditional background in education, to teach across the state of Delaware in high-need schools and subject areas. Participants will undergo a rigorous selection process and train in an intensive summer institute.

Delaware Teaching Fellows program is an alternative or lateral entry teaching program charged with recruiting, selecting and training 25-35 high-achieving professionals and recent college graduates from all backgrounds to teach in critical need areas across the state of Delaware. Teachers in the program go through a rigorous selection process and summer training institute, before beginning teaching. Most participants will not have formal teaching experience, but all will have a demonstrated record of past success, subject-matter knowledge, and a commitment to working in our schools. This cohort of new teachers will be prepared to teach in the schools where they are needed the most by participating in a six week long training institute beginning in June 2011. We are currently seeking an Institute Director (ID) to manage and oversee the overall implementation of the training institute. The ID position has the potential to turn into a full-time, permanent Training and Resource Manager role with the Delaware Teaching Fellows program.

POSITION DESCRIPTION – INSTITUTE DIRECTOR

The Institute Director is one of the key players in the Training Institute and in participants' readiness to enter the classroom. Ultimately, the Institute Director is responsible for the successful planning and implementation of the training institute, including the training and management of a team of teacher trainers (Advisors) and delivery of our Teaching for Student Achievement curriculum (TfSA).

Specifically, the Institute Director will be responsible for:

- Leading in the selection and hiring and training of Advisors (teacher trainers);
- Managing and supporting the team of Advisors and ensuring high-quality implementation of the Teaching for Student Achievement curriculum;
- Providing Advisors with feedback and building a cohesive team to ensure a successful Institute;
- Overseeing participant performance management and evaluation;
- Building and maintaining relationships with key stakeholders such as local Delaware district and charter school staff, including Professional Development personnel, Innovative School staff, Practitioner Teacher Program staff, as well as coordinating training elements with above stakeholders;
- Overseeing the day-to-day operations of the Training Institute;
- Ensuring and monitoring the overall quality of the Institute;

QUALIFICATIONS

- Minimum two years teaching experience in high-need schools (preferably in Delaware)
- Previous experience developing and facilitating teacher professional development (preferred but not required)

COMPENSATION

The salary for this position is $10,000 for the work from March through September. All expenses for the Institute Conference are paid. IDs will be employees of The New Teacher Project, a non-profit consulting organization that provides technical assistance to the Delaware Teaching Fellows program. For more information on The New Teacher Project, please see www.tntp.org.
